Poetry.

THE WHISTLER.

"You have heard," said a Youth to his sweetheart, who stood
While he sat on a corn sheaf at daylight's decline—
"You have heard of the Danish boy's whistle of wood;
I wish that the Danish boy's whistle were mine."

"And what would you do with it? Tell me,' she said,
While an arch smile played over her beautiful face,
"I would blow it," he answered, "and then my fair maid
Would fly to my side and would there take her place."

"Is that all you wish for? That may be yours Without any magic," the fair maid cried;
"A favor so slight one's good nature secures!"
And she playfully seated herself by his side.

"I would blow it again," said the youth, "and the charm
Would work so that not even Modesty's cheek
Would be able to keep from my neck your fine arm!"
She smiled and she laid her fine arm round his neck.

"Yet once more would I blow, and the music divine
Would bring me a third time an exquisite bliss—
You would lay your fair cheek to this brown one of mine,
And your lips stealing past it would give me a kiss."

The maiden laughed out in her innocent glee—
"What a fool of yourself with the whistle you'd make:
For only consider how silly 'twould be
To sit there and whistle for what you might take."

CAN YOU REMEMBER?

Does any one forget the select language, the very chaste and elegant epithets, showered by our political opponents, foremost our "handsome" neighbor, upon Geo. V. Lawrence, after his reported Lawrenceville speech? We cannot reproduce their billingsgate for the reason it is too filthy to occupy a place in columns never bedraggled with such "low scurrillity." And yet this pattern of all that is modesty and choice rhetoric, complains that we "never have a word of commendation for any democratic candidate," but indulge "in indiscriminate personal abuse of all." Not forgetting that treachery oft lurks in compliments, we are only too glad to acknowledge the truth of the first part. There is nothing of friendship for Copperheadism in our make-up. To the second charge we plead guilty in so far as our sense of "personal abuse" is applied. When a man pushes himself, or is pushed into public notice or aspires to some office in the gift of the people, we take it as our right, our duty, to know and apprise the public of his character, his ability, etc. Taking such a position a man stakes all this. Acting upon this hypothesis we presumed to style the Copperhead candidate for Assembly, Sedgwick, a stupid, malignant rebel. That is our opinion and knowledge of the man, deduced from good Democratic authority, men, who though voting for him, declared their disgust "that such a man should be forced on the people." His rebel proclivities are proverbial in the lower end of the county. He opposed every measure for prosecuting the war, and if we have not been misinformed by men whom we have no cause to doubt, expressed himself freely, during the struggle, in favor of Jeff. Davis and his compatriots. Such a man we have no hesitancy in pronouncing stupid and malignant, and, moreover, would add that he is about as fit to represent Greene county in the Assembly as a donkey, or—the editor of the Messenger. Concerning Albert G. Davis we have to say that no decent man in the community can conscientiously speak a good word for him, our neighbor's threat to "tell a good un'" on us to the contrary.

"Let them wield the thunder,
Foll is their dint, who are mailed in despair!"

"DEPARTING FROM THE TRADITIONS OF OUR FATHERS."

Copperheads are exercised for fear the present generation shall "depart from the traditions of our fathers." Whether they should like to return to the fashion of knee-breeches and small swords, powdered wigs and long-waist-coats, or not, they don't say, but as this is a free country no one has any right to object if they wish to don the costume of George the III, yet it certainly would cause remark if they should appear in the simple dress of Father Adam. Need they be told that "old things have passed away?" Faust or Guttenberg, could they be roused from their long sleep, would wonder at and admire the perfection attained in the "art preservative" but would they ask us to return to the old and clumsy method? Would Benjamin Franklin prefer a gig to a palace-sleeping car in riding from New York to Washington to-day? Had Columbus a Cunarder on a two-masted brigantine when he discovered America? Just contemplate the road traveled over and see what innovations have been made upon "the traditions of our fathers," in the physical and ideal world. Mannerism is cast completely in the shade. Nobody wishes to do as others have done. Customs differ and ambition "plumes itself for loftier flights" than have yet been reached by mortals. And yet there is a class of unfortunates called Copperheads who pine for "the traditions of our fathers," and tug and hitch at the crowd which hurries by on the road of Progress. They see nothing but danger ahead in every new stroke that wipes out an old idea.

Slavery was a pet "tradition" of Copperheads and they raised a long, loud howl when it was abolished forever in these United States. State Rights, too, is fostered in their memories as a treasure, partially obscured by the result of the war. The only way is to push on and secure the laurels, as the Republican party has done, and let them—the stragglers—come up afterwards. In the matter of Finance the position of the Copperheads was originally for hard money and against State banks; then for State banks and opposed to greenbacks; and now it is for greenbacks and against the National banks, and should any improvement be suggested in the National Banking System it would be for the National Banks and against improvement. Thus in a natural lifetime by voting the Copperhead ticket a man votes every Radical principle, except that he votes them a year or two later. Those who wish to swing on the tail of Society should continue to vote the Copperhead ticket. You will never get the sand out of your eyes until you mount "the traditions of our fathers."

WHAT THEN?

Copperheads propose to issue twenty-five millions more greenbacks, but they don't say what they want after that is done. If they extinguish the national debt in that way—and it would be extinguishing with a vengeance—is it not reasonable to suppose that a greenback dollar now worth sixty cents in gold would be depreciated to almost nothing, with the ability of the government to redeem at par removed beyond a possibility? Workingmen who to-day are worth sixty cents in gold for every greenback, on the day the Pendleton repudiation scheme goes into effect will be worth ten cents, perhaps, for every greenback dollar. Then will be realized the wishes for days when copperheads hoped "it would take a hat-full of money to buy a hat!" Your debtor will approach you with the blandest of smiles and offer you ten cents on the dollar and square, or give you his promise to pay to be paid with another promise when due. This will be an easy state of affairs, but who is there excepting a swindler or vagabond that would wish to see our finances prostrated and every business interest stagnated by repudiation?

HINT FOR CHASE.

A correspondent of the Tribune makes a palpable hit in this wise:

"I think that Mr. Chase owes it to the country, and to humanity at large, not to accept the nomination by the Democrats unless a good sound Union man is nominated as Vice President on the same ticket. The facility with which some people remove obnoxious Presidents makes the Chase movement look a little like sharp practice—as if he was to be used, if possible, to carry a convenient Copperhead, or at least one of easy virtue, into the Vice Presidency. Leaving out of view the possibility of another assassination, the great interests of our country ought not to depend upon the uncertain tenure of the life of one man."

THANKS.

We are under obligations to our "handsome" neighbor for calling the attention of Democrats and Republicans to an article in our editorial of the 17th inst., headed "THE QUESTION STATED." To be still more explicit regarding it we challenge him to publish the article entire and answer the argument.

BUT LITTLE DIFFERENCE.

In Luzerne county Copperheads used coffee to color naturalization papers and thus divest them of their rawness of appearance, that aliens might be voted fraudulently. Where such men were found in the army they were known as "coffee-coolers," in peace they are "coffee-colorists."

From the London Daily News, June 4.

THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

An English View of the Nominations of the Chicago Convention:

There are some circumstances which render the nomination of Gen. Grant singularly opportune. He is not a politician and the nation is tired of politicians. He is a soldier with a soldier's idea of duty, but with a civilians's respect for legislative authority and the national will. He has probably no definite policy of his own; but it is of a President with a policy that the republic is suffering. He is accustomed to obey, as well as to rule; and it is a President who will do its work and obey its behests whom the nation needs. The very fact that after, by turns, exciting the suspicion he has won the confidence of all parties, proves his fitness for the highest post in the Commonwealth. A President should be a practical Statesman, not a theorist—a man of deeds rather than words; the executive of the national will, not the apostle of his own self-will. He has no right to a policy which is not the policy of the nation, and in his office he belongs neither to his party nor to himself, but to the nation which has elected him to its temporary headship. It is the best recomendation of General Grant that he will probably make a national rather than a party President; and should his election once more lift the office ever so little above the self assertion of Mr. Johnson's administration, or the party narrowness of so many of his predecessors, it may restore the waning influence of the Presidency, and begin an era of peace and reconciliation in the nation.

It is curious to observe the irresistible advance of General Grant to the position he now occupies. Ever since Mr. Lincoln's death he has been spoken of as the next President, but he has never in any way put himself forward for nomination. Instead of canvassing for himself, as so many of his predecessors have done, he has refused even to submit to examination. His habits of reticence has been a puzzle to the politicians and an immense affliction to the correspondents of party journals. He was misunderstood during the war, and would not explain himself; he has been more misunderstood since the peace, and has left the explanation to events. All parties in turn have claimed him, and all parties have spoken of him as their Presidential candidate. In the Autumn of 1866 Mr. Johnson paraded him as his companion in the celebrated Northwestern tour. In the Autumn of last year, when the fist guns of the electoral struggle began to be heard, he was nominated by the party which supported Mr. Johnson's policy, and was paraded by them as the people's candidate. He was supposed to be neither one thing nor the other, neither for Congress or the President, neither for negro franchise nor for unconditional reconstruction; but only for peace as quickly as possible. Reconstruction at any price was supposed to be his motto, and the advocates of hastily patching up the the Union regarded him as their coming man.

Meanwhile the Republicans who were talking of Mr. Chase, Mr. Wade and Mr. Colfax, were luke-warm about General Grant. He would not be put through his catechism, would not commit himself to anything but practical duty, and they were as willing to suspect his silence as the Democrats were willing to trust it. But it was not the first service Mr. Johnson rendered the Republican party when he put General Grant's loyalty to Congress to a practical test. As the General would not declare against his policy, Mr. Johnson tried to use him to carry it out, and thus forced the declaration which neither private friends nor public appeals had been able to draw forth. from that time General Grant has more and more regained the confidence of the Republican party, and has only lost that of the Johnsonites and Democrats. Circumstances have, in fact forced him upon the Republican party, and have rendered his unanimous nomination as their candidate their only course. But that nomination is another proof of the ascendency of the moderate section over the extreme Radicals, of which so many examples have been given. General Grant is the representative of the most moderate section of the Republican party, and his unanimous acceptance as the candidate of the whole party is a proof of its restored harmony and a guarantee of its success. He will probably be elected by a vote in which all the States will share, for the first time since Mr. Lincoln's first election, and will be the first Republican President who will preside over an undivided Union.

THE HOME OF GENERAL GRANT.

The home of General Grant is an agreeable one to the visitor, and plainly shows the nature and taste of the occupant. Tall walnut book-cases surround three sides of the library. Everything relating to the business of war is there, and histories in abundance. The usual display of fiction, essays, biography, philosophy, and works of general information and reference line the shelves. On the mantel is a cigar stand, a bronze statuette of a drummer, and another of a bugler. Engravings of Washington, Lincoln, Sherman and Sheridan, and several biographs of Rogers' statuettes are the only pictures in the room. Easy chairs and lounges are placed carelessly about the room, and the library is without doubt the most cheerful and inviting apartment in the house. A minature saddle and trappings in bronze and silver is fastened to cross-sabres of the same metal. A bronze drum rests beside a stack of six-inch muskets; a cigar case from the home of Barns; a half dozen curiously formed and elaborately decorated pipes and cigar-holders; powder-horns, mounted in gold and silver, each having its separate history, and a hundred rare little articles of vertu adorn the tables and mantels. On a side table in tin boxes are the five military commissions of colonel, brigadier general, major general, lieutenant general, and general, with the parchments of brevet ranks which Grant has received. Some very costly albums, prayer books, and Bibles are also upon the table. An oil painting of Sheridan and one of McPherson are prominently hung in the parlors, and a marble bust and an engraving of President Lincoln are also conspicuous.

A STRONG MAN.

Thomas Thompson, the "strong man," was born in London in 1710, and was bred a carpenter, but afterwards traveled on his "muscle." He was a quiet, peaceful man, of middle size and weight, made like other men, except that the usual cavities under the arms and hands were, in his case filled full of muscle. The wonderful stories of his feats of strength are well authenticated.

He could hold under perfect restraint, and with ease to himself, the strongest horse. He lifted a table six feet long, with fifty pounds on the end of it, with his feet, and he held it in a horizontal position a considerable time. He rolled up a pewter dish weighing seven pounds with as much apparent ease as the reader would roll up a sheet of paper. He held a pewter quart pot at arm's length and squeezed the sides, together like an egg shell. He lifted two hundred pounds with his little finger and waved it gently around his head. He lifted Mr. Chambers, a clergyman, who weighed three hundred and seventy-four pounds, with one hand, Mr. Chambers' head being placed on one chair and his feet on another. At a blow, he struck a round bit of iron one inch in diameter, against his arm and bent it like a bow. One night, observing a watchman asleep, in his box, he picked up box and watchman, carrying the load with the greatest ease, and dropped him over the wall into Tisdale burying ground. A butcher once passed a large window at which Topham was sitting. He stooped down and took half an ox from the fellow's shoulders with so much ease and dexterity that the man swore that the devil had flown away with his beef. At a race a man insisted on driving upon the track, so Topham took hold of the tail of the cart and drew it gently back, the driver whipping the horse like a madman all time. When he kept a public house two men were determined to fight him, so to satisfy them, he seized them by the napes of their necks, and knocked their heads together till he got all the fight out of them. He astonished a sailor who presented him with a cocoanut, by cracking it close to his ear as you would a peanut, and upon one occasion he threw his horse over a turnpike gate, and at any time could go through the manual of arms with the beam of a house.

HUSBANDS AND WIVES.

A certain eminent clergyman passed in the circle of his acquaintance as one who was governed by his wife, the men called him hen-pecked, and the women quoted his partner as an example of a clever person, who knew how to manage her husband. It is thus that people often judge the married individual who has the misfortune to have an incorrigible partner, is called weak because he submits to what cannot be remedied, though his submission evinces his superior strength of mind; while the incorrigible person, who is endured as an incurable evil, is called clever, because she destroys her own happiness, and interrups that of all around her, by the indulgence of a bad temper and false views of subjects, incompatible with cleverness, in the proper acceptance of the word. If we reflect on all the examples of husbands or wives that have been most governed, we shall find that the submitting party was the most clever, and the governing one the most weak; unless where the latter was so gentle that the sway was not apparent, the person following the poet's beau ideal of the wife

"Who never answers till her husband cools,
And though she rules him, never shows she rules."

A jealousy of being governed, and a desire of governing, are in general most frequently to be found in weak minds of both sexes; and this love of rule joined to obstinacy, another characteristic of feeble intellect, renders such persons so incorrigible, that passive forbearance is all that remains to a husband or wife, so unhappily "paired, but not matched." Let not, however, persons so borne with rejoice in the belief that they are clever, but be thankful to the strength that yields to their weakness.

A New York paper has a new motto for a stage driver, which is classically apt. Jam forte in omnibus.

VERY RESPECTABLE PEOPLE.

It seems to me that this term has changed its significance within a few years. Long ago respectable people were those of whom the world had nothing ill to say—who lived quietly and did their duties, and were able to win respect. Girls who worked for their daily bread, with no stain upon their characters—men who toiled at common employments for the support of growing and well-trained families, were all welcomed with the rich to church-pew and parlor. To be very respectable, was to be honest and upright.

Looking over our church to-day, I have been asking myself whether I belong to the respectable of the present time. One of our neighbors lives in a large white mansion, surrounded by pleasant walks and charming nooks for shade on a sunny day. Within everything is costly and tasteful. The only thing wanting is domestic felicity. The husband quarrels with his second wife, the first children quarrel with their second mother, the wife's decrepit father is insulted, and yet people call them very respectable. Another within a stone's throw, lives more elegantly still, is blessed with several daughters in his own family, and numerous sons and daughters in other families, and yet bears an excellent name.

A member of our church—one of the best churches in the land—is the gentlemanly proprietor of a wholesale liquor store, and neither pastor nor people have as yet taken any steps toward excommunicating him.

Another is in the wholesale grocery business but sells many a barrel of whiskey where he sells one of sugar, for polite license has in the last few years made whiskey a grocery article, a daily necessity in living. A very efficient man has the misfortune to support three wives and one large family, two of these wives very fortunately having no children. The drain upon his pocket is very heavy and business sometimes stagnant, yet he is a pillar in our neighborhood. Another loans money to the poor, takes mortgages on comfortable homes, and forecloses them at the first good opportunity. Another keeps a large store, employing several girls as clerks, paying them $5 per week for work, out of which they pay $1 50 for board, claiming the privilege of using any familiarity he chooses, or they must lose their places, and he the husband of a refined woman. Another, whom we meet every day, has a wife and lovely children, and yet supports one and sometimes two Theatre Comique girls. People say what a fine business man! What a noble face he has! and all these are called very respectable people.

Several of our neighbors have failed for large amounts, defrauding the innocent poor, and rumor says these failures are necessary, that they might lay by a little for their families to move in "respectable society." Many more never pay their honest debts, even though they live in affluence, but custom has made this allowable.

A man who used to pack pork with greasy hands and soiled clothes, and was a very "common fellow," after acquiring money enough to build a fine house and drive a handsome span, although too illiterate to speak or write correctly, has become a highly esteemed citizen.

We have young men in our midst who drink hard and live fast, and I have heard young ladies say they were most respectable associates, and these same young ladies will ride, and walk, and talk with them, when they should be asleep, losing perhaps what no money can regain.

A family with a good show of silver plate, and silk dresses, lives for the most part on baked potatoes, and sometimes few at that, and all this for the sake of being respectable.

One of our neighbors was assured by the spirits whom he consulted that he and his wife, though living together, for a score of years were wrongly mated. He obtained a divorce and married his congenial spirit, a young dashing girl, who knew as well how to spend his money as his former wife did to save it. The whole thing would hardly have looked respectable had it not happened in a first family.

A lady who used to do dressmaking, having the fortune to marry a man of wealth, has forgotton her old associate dressmakers, indeed has forgotton how to make dresses—"thinks it must require so much skill and patience!" Several young ladies whose brothers have married finely in a pecuniary sense, and not finely in any other, have become so elated by it, that their many airs have given them an immediate entry into "good society!"

Another lady, who had an invalid husband—for which she is probably thankful; allows herself to be kissed, and cloaked, and gallanted by a certain young man. Our neighbors think it is not prudent, but then her family stands high.

Another, who dresses elegantly never puts out her washing to the poor by the dozen, except they are all the largest pieces, and then under pretense that many are poorly done, a full price is seldom paid, and yet she attends church and carries a very large prayer book.

Another scolds her servants incessantly, carefully removes the sweetmeats from the table after her family have eaten, takes off the white sugar, and thinks common molasses as good for "low domestics," as Stewart's refined syrup.

Another makes elegant parties for the rich, and passes her poor relations on the street without even a look of recognition! Other women neglect their infants for society and will not nourish them from their own breasts lest their dresses become soiled, and they have extra care, so putting the child where death can easily find it. Such women ought to be called brutes not mothers, and yet all these are very respectable people.

The very respectable have fine cushioned pews in churches, fine Bibles, and hymn books, fine establishments and fine surroundings. I have come to the conclusion that to be respectable one must have several thousand dollars, and to be very respectable a great number of thousands.—Cleveland Leader.

RE CROPS.

Along the seaboard, and through the East generally, last week was sunshiny and warm, and considerable planting was done. Still, owing to the many previous rains, much ground was so wet that planting was impossible, and the attempt was abandoned. Corn and potato fields already planted are so foul that great work and patience are required, but the farmers are vigorously pushing through. Much trouble has arisen from the rotting of the seed of potatoes; perhaps this was never so extensive and general before. The fruit crop of the New-England States and of New-Jersey is likely to be better than last year; still it is not up to an average, owing to blasting winds, to cold rains, and want of sunlight. On Long Island fruit is reported a failure. Delaware and the Maryland shore will have a short crop.

Through the Middle States, east of the Alleghenies, and down to the North Carolina line, all kinds of productions, and wheat in particular, are represented at a full average. On the thin soils of the Gulf States, and around to Louisiana, corn and gardens have suffered for want of rain, and accounts are gloomy; but cotton stands drouth better, and it is estimated that there will be half of such a crop as was common before the "unpleasantness." On low lands and fresh fields all vegetation is thriving though, in places, the army and budworm and caterpillar are committing some ravages. From Tennessee and Arkansas the accounts are favorable and the wheat already cut is of fine quality, though not extraordinary for quantity. The freedmen are working well, and it is frequently stated that they do not come from the fields till dark.

Southern Missouri, Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky report nothing new, and this in the South West is often good news. In the great corn-belt running through Southern Iowa and Northern Missouri, Central Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, not more than three-fourths of the land which farmers expected to devote to corn could not be planted, owing to the wet weather; still, as great an area as common may have been put in, for the reason that large fields of raw and "fed-out" prairie have been broken and planted. Last week there were heavy rains in Ohio, doing considerable damage. On the whole, the wheat crop through this country is good—we might say better than common. In the Wabash Valley it is more promising than for fifteen years past. In more Northern sections, including Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Northern Illinois, and Michigan, the farmer was less delayed by April rains, and as a consequence all kinds of grain and farm productions are in great forwardness and are highly promising. Along the southern border of this region the potato or Colorado bug is in vast numbers, and there are grave apprehensions for the safety of the potato crop. From no one State do we have such encouraging accounts as from Michigan. There are no complaints with regard to any crop except corn, which is rather backward, while the small grains are represented as better than for ten years. Of potatoes the amount planted is enormous. The farmers seem excited with the expection of large profits, and with good reason; and it is represented that if the yield is an average one they will have a surplus sufficient for many States. Sheep must be mostly sheared, but owing to low prices of wool the business is somewhat depressed.—Tribune.

Wet the Ropes.

The property of cords contracting their length became known as a great mechanical power at the raising of the obelisk in the square facing St. Peter's at Rome. This was in 1586. It was a day of great solemnity. The Pope celebrated high mass and blessed the workmen. The blast of a trumpet gave the signal, and the engines were set in motion by an incredible number of horses. Fifty-two unsuccessful trials were made before the huge block of stone was lifted from the earth. As it rose in the air the ropes which held it became so stretched that the base of the column could not be lifted on its pedestal, when a man in the crowd called out, "Wet the ropes." This was done and immediately the immense shaft, as of its own accord, and without further aid from the engines, rose to the required height and rested on the spot where it now stands.

A GENUINE FRENCH ROMANCE.

One of those little romances of which the French are so fond, has lately taken place in Paris, and is thus described in a journal:

M. Robert, an immensely wealthy, highly accomplished elegant, well-known not only for his valuable collection of paintings and medieval relics, but for his rare skill as a designer and painter, hearing that one of his tenants, a Mr. B., whom he had never seen, kept one of the most extensive ateliers of fancy boxes and ornamental objects in France, called on him with a view to make his acquaintance.

Entering the counting room he found a good natured, eccentric gentleman of middle age, who greeted him, and exclaimed;

"I suppose that you also have seen my advertisement and come to apply for that situation as designer!"

For a joke, M. Robert replied that he had. Mr. B. supplied him with paint and brushes, and requested him to produce a design for a casket. M. Robert soon found that what Mr. B. really wanted was an artist who would strictly carry out his idea, and that these were pure, and formed on an extensive knowledge of art. In a short time he produced a sketch which suited the employer to a dot—"a point!"

M. Robert very gravely engaged himself, exacted good wages, and insisted on having several new articles of furniture placed in the room which was assigned to him. But when he was introduced to the work rooms and found one hundred and fifty girls, many of them young and beautiful, busily employed, and informed that he would be required to supply them with designs and show the young ladies how they were to be carried out, the young artist began to feel as if he should have to be carried out himself—being very susceptible.

"Working for a living," said he to himself, "is not entirely devoid of attraction. Let us work."

M. Robert began an accomplished artist, delighted his employer, and he soon found a remarkable fascination in seeing his designs realized in steel, silver, enamel or wood. He took a pleasure hitherto unknown, in seeing his works in shop-windows and finding them in the boudoirs of his friends. The workshop life was of course, carefully concealed from "society," nor did his employer suspect that his artist was his landlord. But M. Robert soon found a more intense object of fascination in the daughter of Mr. B., a young lady who also took part in the duties of the atelier. This damsel was as remarkable for accomplishments as for her extraordinary beauty, and M. Robert soon found that, as regarded taste and culture in all matters which specially interested him, he had never met with one like her. Step by step, the pair fell in love, and little by little the artist so ingratiated himself with the father that the latter, after due deliberation, consented to their union.

Previous to their marriage the old gentleman one day spoke of the dowry; "I shall give Marie 50,000 francs," said he, with a little air of boasting. "Eh, mon garcon!"

"And I suppose," added M. Robert gravely, "that I, too, must settle something on my wife. Well—I will."

This caused a peal of laughter, which was redoubled when the artist added:

"And I will settle this piece of property, house and all, with the building adjoining, on her."

But what was their amazement when M. Robert drew forth the title deeds and said: "You seem to forget that I am your landlord. Isn't my name Robert?"

The young lady did not faint, but papa nearly died of astonishment and joy. There was a magnificent wedding, but the bridegroom has not given up business. He declares that there is as much amusement in being useful as in amusing one's self.

THE NEW CONSULS AND TAXATION.

It is understood that a bill, the result of careful preparation by leading financial members of the two Houses, may be introduced in Congress this week, which authorizes the issue of two thousand millions of dollars in "bonds of the consolidated debt of the United States," to bear five per cent. interest, payable principal and interest in gold, redeemable after twenty years at the public option and maturing in fifty years, and to be exempt from taxation. One half of one cent to be semi-annually deducted from the interest, to form a sinking-fund for the payment of the national debt. Existing securities may be converted into these bonds, which may also be used for banking purposes. It is believed that these long bonds, at the lower rate of interest, but with all cavil as to the mode of their redemption obviated, and meeting the question of taxation by the old and familiar method of taking money out of one pocket and putting it into the other, will be satisfactory to the treasury, to the public creditors and to the non-bond-holding tax-payers. A strong effort will be made to enact this measure into a law before the close of the session.—Gazette.

THE NATIONAL ANNIVERSARY.

Again the American people are called to observe the day which ninety-two years ago first knew them as a nation without a monarch. The words "all men are created free and equal," etc., then electrified the civilized world. The long years that have intervened since liberty was "proclaimed throughout the land to all the inhabitants thereof" have been years of political strife in which the doctrine then enunciated struggled for life, and only by desperate means did it finally triumph when its foes made a last deadly coup de etat. And yet the fight has been revived again. Treason made odious in the field is respected in the forum, and it has chosen this hallowed day on which to marshal its discomfited hosts to battle against the Rights of Man. The band of liberty-defamers who meet in the city of New York on the 4th inst., assemble for a purpose as far from that which actuated the declaration of '76 as the zenith from the nadir, and "more's the pity" that such profanation should be linked with the holy associations surrounding it. The Republican party is but a continuation of the bold argument then put forth. It stands to-day where the few progressive spirits that framed the Declaration of Independence then stood and offers to the country a second Washington as the first soldier in the Republic—the peace-maker of the land—General U.S. Grant. Hence when the day is here let patriots rejoice that our country yet lives, make new vows of fealty to that power which proved a scourge to treason and with our martyred dead close up the phalanx of Freedom and move to more brilliant conquests. For

> We say the dead do conquer: From their graves
> The prestige issues which achieves the fight;
> Example is their testament, which saves
> The cause they fell for, when that cause is right."

PRINTERS OFF!

The next issue of the Republican will be July 15, in accordance with established usage, and that "all hands" may enjoy the Fourth. As Congressional business will be suspended for the greater part of that time there will be nothing of importance to communicate from that quarter. The Democratic Convention will more than likely continue in session until the first of the week and as our mails only embrace Monday's news we would be compelled to leave details over until the second week. So taking it all through our patrons would be kept waiting for the most important news even were we to publish our regular edition. Therefore, and for the reasons set forth above, and others "too numerous to mention" we deem it wise to rest a week.

MEETING OF CONFEREES.

Tuesday, the 7th of July, has been selected as the time and Pittsburgh the place, for holding the 24th District Conference. Jno I. Worley, of Wayne; Maj. J. B. Morris, of Perry, and F. H. Crago, of Carmichaels, are delegates from this county. We hope to give a good account of their action.

An exchange says if the Democracy desire a candidate that will run well, let them put up any one of the thousands of draft-sneaks who put for the Canada border when the first call was made for volunteers. They can't be beat for speed and bottom.

DEMOCRACY AND ARISTOCRACY.

In the sense of these terms as they are used in modern times their meaning is synonymous. Even in the halcyon days of Democracy we find it the advocate of class and caste. It is the tail end of a long line of inherited nobility striving to hold the mastery. The Bourbons of America. Where Monarchs rule the government is held by crafty nobles century after century. Baronial tyranny and feudal faction always flourish there. This is what Democracy attempted to perpetuate on the free soil of America, for proof of which the reader is referred to the social condition of the South before the war and the sayings of her Statesmen. Her social system was thoroughly impregnated with the idea that there must be a governing class and a class to be governed. How far she succeeded may be attested by the complete subjection under which the masses labored, which compelled them to take up arms against themselves at the bidding of these ruling spirits. Not only did this influence bind the negro and the "white trash" of the South but it extended into the North and found among her freemen enough subjects to peril her freedom. Miscreants who cringed to the sceptre tyrants know so well how to wield—power. Though they appealed finally to the sword and were defeated, no doubt remains but that they would build an empire on the ruins of our Republic if by cajolery and deceit they can blind the light of Republicanism and by fawning upon honesty and toil they can forge a chain it will be impossible to sever. How easily this may be accomplished depends upon the good sense of the laboring classes. If they vote to allow these men to get control of the Government then dukes and princes of ancient regime would be replaced with whisky Kings and Southern barons, who would tap Industry at every pore and wring from the brow of Labor an income for their own and the support of their parasites. Their few leaders, wary and unscrupulous, ever have their eye upon getting control, but as educational interests advance the dark reminder of the Middle Ages recedes. The "chivalry" of American politics pales before the light of republican liberty and will continually fade as schools become more common and the lower classes correspondingly intelligent. Hence the cry from their lips of "plow-holders against bond-holders," prejudice and passion against principle, and our strong hope that the latter will triumph.

UNREASONABLE.

Many people whom you converse with now-a-days on politics express a hearty disgust of politicians and the corruptions abroad in the land. If he be a conservative you are talking with, he says he "is tired of the demagogueism that runs rampant in both parties;" he wants "a statesman, a man that will steer clear of politics, and work only for the country's good." That sounds well, but hear what he says when you propose Grant for President. "Oh! that is hero-worship! I am not of that kind, besides Grant don't know what he is, he has no ability, etc." But, you remonstrate and assure him that Grant displayed tact, energy and ability in his campaigns, that he seemed to labor for the good of the whole country and was wise enough to let politics alone, but at all times when necessary he was outspoken in his demands for justice and right, that the office sought the man and not the man the office. Then listen, "I don't like the Chicago platform." There's where the secret lies. Yet Grant in his letter of acceptance says, "if elected President I shall have no policy of my own to enforce against the will of the people!" He is weary of politics and politicians, but cannot accept Grant because he "never said anything," and is anything else but a politician. He is no soldier admirer and hates the Republican party. What shall be done in his case? The only thing we know of is, treat him as the nonenity he is. Pray, where can there be found a man approaching the statesman nearer than Grant, who dabbled as little in public affairs? Where in the history of our country have we but the one precedent of the office of President seeking a man? Now that the people have him as their candidate it remains for the honest men of all parties to see that he is elected.

While Gen. Grant was acting as Secretary of War, Andrew Johnson, in a message to Congress, declared that "great reductions of expenses had been effected under his administration of the War Department, to the saving of millions to the Treasury." Now the party that champions Johnson's cause declare him unfit for President, without executive ability, a wooden man, as it were. They blew hot and cold to suit.

STEPHENS' BOOK.

We are again importuned to publish an advertisement for an agent to sell a "History of the War, with its Causes, Character, Conduct and Results;" by Alex. H. Stephens, of Georgia, late Vice President of the so-called Confederacy. Recollecting the contempt with which Mr. Stephens treated the Northern people in a speech delivered in 1856, and that by such means he and his confreres created in the South the spirit of rebellion; keeping fresh in our memory the famous Georgia Convention speech of Mr. Stephens, after the rebellion was inaugurated, in which he told his people the United States Government had given no cause for it and had not only been just but partial to the South in bestowing its favors; and remembering yet after all Mr. Stephens did accept the Vice Presidency of the so-called Confederacy and make a speech in favor of his new government, declaring that Slavery was the rock upon which it was founded "as Christ was the Rock of the Christian Church." When we bear in mind these acts and sayings of Alexander H. Stephens, we have no wish to be the means of inflicting more of them upon the people. Mr. Stephens is now becoming quite an old man, and will soon like Buchanan, pass to that "bourne whence no traveler returns," and as we can say no good of the man, let him pass quietly along. We do not wish to feed him, or starve him, as he did our prisoners at Andersonville. Let rebel sheets and rebel hands care for him as best they may.

SEYMOUR'S LAST.

Last Friday night Seymour made his last bid for the Presidency before his friends in New-York. His speech for brazen effrontery and willful falsehood exceeds anything we have seen in that line of late. The Pittsburgh Gazette remarks concerning it:

Gov. Seymour's address was prefaced decorated and concluded with the amount of misrepresentation and partizan demagoguery usually found in Democratic speeches, and which even the distinguished orators of that party are compelled to adopt as the only medium through which they make seasonable counsel or admonitions heard by their followers. But under cover of all this clap-trap and humbug, he has managed to deal a savagely effective blow at the greenback-nonsense of Pendleton, and the obtuse folly of the fellows who are still clamorous for "a white man's government." The precise extent of the influence which this speech will have with the party at large, the next fortnight will disclose.

SEYMOUR vs. PENDLETON.

Horatio Seymour in his Thursday nights speech fires a hot shot point-blank into the Pendletonian camp. How it can be possible for two principals and their factions, as essentially different as these, to harmonize will be the business of the convention of the 4th:

"If we debase the currency by unwise issues, we shall equally perplex business and destroy sober industry, and make all prices mere matters of gambling, tricks and chances. This will end as it did in the Southern Confederacy. At the outset the citizens of Richmond went to market with their money in their vest pockets and brought back their dinners in their baskets; in the end they took their money in their baskets, and took home their dinners in their vest pockets."

A passenger by a night train on the Hudson River railroad tells the following: The train was detained at Greenbush for a little while, and while waiting, a cattle train came on the other track and stopped. Such a noise has seldom been heard; the cattle bellowed, the sheep set up a bleating, and the hogs grunted, until the passengers were nearly crazed. One old fellow had slept for hours, but this noise woke him. Rubbing his eyes, he listened in amazement. "Aye, aye!" says he, "what's this?" Peering into the darkness without discerning anything, and listened more critically, he at last satisfied himself, and sat the passengers roaring by the exclamation, "That must be a Democratic convention."

Colfax vs. Coalfax.

A dispute having arisen between some persons in Des Moines, Iowa, relative to the pronunciation of the name of the Republican candidate for Vice President, one of them addressed him a letter of inquiry. A portion contended that it was pronounced Colfax, others claiming that it was Coalfax. The speaker's reply reads as follows:

Washington, May 26.—My first name is pronounced as if written Skyler, and the last as if written Coalfax. The "a" doubtless dropped out in crossing the ocean.

The Veto.

The President's veto of the Omnibus Reconstruction bill occupied the attention of the House just twenty minutes, and the Senate ten minutes. The bill went through the upper branch by thirty to eight, and the lower branch by one hundred and five to thirty. The Democrats express a good deal of disgust with Johnson, because he required them to again indorse his policy.

NASBY.

The Democratic Candidate for the Presidency—Mr. Nasby Hoists the name of a Democrat of his Acquaintance in Southern Illinois.

Post Offis, Confeerit X Roads,
(Wich is in the State uv Ky.)
June 1, 1868.

The matter uv a Presidenshel candidate hez opprest me, and hez also exercised the gigantic intellex who congratulate at the Corners. We hev decided thet Cheef Justis Chais won't do. We kin support him cheerfully, for his method uv conduktin the impeachment trial hez satisfied us uv his hankerin for a standin in our party. Besides this havin made a start, we consider him sure enny hew. The man wich kin take a nomination at our hands or identify hisself with us, may alluz be countid onto. The Ablishnists never forgive seeh, and ther ain't no other place to go to. When Johnson and Doolittle and thet crowd left the Ablishnists, I knew wher they wud land better than they did. Facilis descensus averni, wich bein translated into the vulgar tongue, means, the road to hell is macadamized. Hancock won't do, becoz our Southern brethren hev a prejoodis agin the flag he drawd his sword under. Pendleton wood anser the west, but the east is opposed to him; Seymour would do the east, but the west is opposed to him. I therefore, after givin the matoor considershen, have decided to propose for the posishun, the name uv Jethro L. Kippins, Alexander county, Illinoy.

I hev the follerin reasons for insistin on his nominashun.

1. He's geographically level. By lokin on the map, it will be seen that that county in Illinoy is the extreme south-westerly part uv the State. It is a Northern county with Southern ideas. Across the river is Kentucky, west is southern Missoura and east is lower Injeany. They grow tobacco there, and yearn after the slave labor ez intensely ez we do across the river.

2. Nobody knows him. The name of Jethro L Kippins hez never filled the soundin trump uv fame. With him on our tikkit several pints would be gained. On all the questions on which there is a doubt in the minds of the Democrat, Jethro L. Kippins is uncommitted. He is unembarrassed with views, and on troublesome questions hez nary an opinyun. The trouble Pendleton hez with the greenbax wood not affect him, neither wood any uv them other questions wich are rather embarrassin than otherwise. He hez but one political principle. Which he holds is enuff for any one man, and that is Democracy, ez it hez bin, ez it is, and ez it may be. He beleeves firmly in the curs uv Canaan, he holds close to Onesimus and Hagar, and hez sworn a solemn oath that no nigger shall ever marry a daughter uv hizzen. This noble sentiment which alluz strikes a responsive cord in every Democratic bazzum wood be emblazoned on the Kippins banner.

3. Jethro L. Kippinses posishen on the war question is happy. He opposed all the steps wich led to it, and when it finally broke out, he proposed the only troo Democratic way uv stoppin it. It wuz his opinyun that we hed no rite to coerce the South—that there wuz no warrant in the Constooshon for any sich perceedin. "Ef Boregard fires onto Major Anderson," sed he, "let Major Anderson go afore the nearest Justs uv the Peace and hev him bound over to keep the peece. Ef he won't keep the peece, and the Justis can't enforce his warrant, why that ends it. We can't go beyond the Constooshen." After hostilities actooally begun his posishen wuz eminently satisfactory to both sides. He wuz in favor uv the war, but opposed to its prosekooshen. He remarkt that the South had committed a indiscreshen, but were he in Congris, he shoodent vote for nary man nor dollar for carryin on a war agin em. His two sons served in the war—one in the Confedrit servis and one in Federal—both ez sutlers. The war bore heavy upon him—he made great sacrifice. Three other sons he supported in Canada dooring the continyooance uv the unnachral strife.

4. Jethro L. Kippins hez all the elements uv popularity. He wuz born in a log cabin—he studied Daboll's arithmetic by the lite uv a pine knot, held for the purpose by his mother—he drove hoss on the canal; wuz a salt boiler in Southern Ohio, a wagon-boy on the Nashnel Road, wuz left an orphan when six weeks old, swept a store in his early yooth, went down the Mississippi on a flat boat, was in the Mexikin war, and hez a consumin pashen for horses. He hez, in this, the advantage uv Grant ez his pashen was so consumin that it got him into a temporary difficulty, which required 12 men a judge and two lawyers to settle, one of the lawyers bein the State's Attorney uv the county. These facts in his biography I got from his own lips. Ef there's any discrepancies, uv course the committee on biography will reconcile em. It may be that he may hev done too much—wich is to say, ef all he says is troo, he would be two or three hundred years old. Ef so, it will have to be pared down. He hez bin justis uv the peece for ten years in his native township, which gives a splendid knowledge uv constooshnel law.

5. He's trooly nashnel in his views. He knows no north, no south, no east, no west, no nothing. That last qualification mite prejudis some agin him, but to me its his chief holt. For with sich a man in the President's chair I would be safe. We hev an abundance uv sich men as Wood, Seymour, Vallandygum, et settry, who can manage a President, but are too odorous to be electid very much to that posishen themselves. Then its necessary that precisely sich a man ez I hev described be electid; and the fact that Chase knows too much is the objection I hev to him. Polk was manageable. Pierce eminently so, and poor old Bookannon was wonderfully pliable.

Sich is the candidate wich I present. There are many pints in his favor. Our people wood to-wunst exclaim, "Who'n thunder is Kippins?" and before they cood find out the day uv election wood be on em, and they'd vote him. His hevin no record is also in his favor. Wat wood Pendleton, Valandyghum, Seymour and Wood give ef they hed no record? A record is like a tin kittle to a dog's tale—it's a noisy appendage which makes the dog conspicuous, and invites everybody to shy a brick at him.

I hevn't menshend in this, nor shel I, who would be a proper man for the second place on the ticket. I hev my opinyun. Kentucky is deservin uv recognishun—that's all I shell say. The modesty wich is characteristic uv me prevents me from segestin the particler citizen of Kentucky who ought to be thus honored. We shell see whether or not republics is ongrateful.

Petroleum V. Nasby, P. M.,
(Wich is Postmaster.)

P. S. The fact that Jethro L. Kippins holds my note for $13 63, with interest for two years, hez no influoence on my segestin his name. I am influoenced by no mercenary considerations. —Toledo Blade.

MURDER IN POLITICS.

In our last article upon the election frauds in Pennsylvania in 1867, we pointed out the advantages of coffee in giving to fraudulent naturalization papers a color of antiquity agreeing with their pretended date. As we advance in our investigations of the Democratic doings in the XXIst Senatorial District, we find that the interest deepens from the comedy of coffee to the tragedy of assassination. When Shugart had carried the District by the votes of laborers upon the Tyrone and Clearfield Railroad, changed from aliens into American citizens by the magic of spurious papers, it being apparent to all men that there had been considerable Democratic cheating round that board, it became prudent to get rid, as soon as possible, of these fancy citizens. There was no further use for them, and, whenever it was feasible, they were run out of the neighborhood, and even out of the State. Some of them were sent to hide themselves in the woods; some of them were transported to New-York; but with one of them at least a shorter and sharper method was adopted. John Casey, a "naturalized" navvy, testified before the Legislative Committee to certain rather remarkable facts. He said he was "as ignorant as a baste; that he received a naturalization paper from one of the Democratic wire-workers; that he "voted Democratic," as he was told to do. Now mark what befell this poor, unfortunate devil who was foolhardy enough to disclose the truth! Four days after giving his testimony he was found on the highway, near Clearfield, brutally murdered! Thus the great Democratic enterprise advanced from larceny to forgery, from forgery to bribery, from bribery to perjury, from perjury to murder! A victim who suffers himself to get into the clutches of the Pennsylvania Democratic State Committee must be careful how he indulges in the luxury of telling the truth, even when he happens to be under oath. Let speculators who intend to negotiate with the Democratic leaders this Fall remember the fate of John Casey!

Of course, murder in the long run is rather a risky resource. There were 2,200 of these rascally naturalization papers distributed by the Democrats in Luzerne County, and it would hardly be safe to knock on the head the 2,200 poor wretches who voted upon the strength of them. This was a kind of wholesale massacre from which even the Democratic National Committee might shrink, and which, fortunately for them, was hardly necessary. John Casey was killed in terrorem and the 2,200 sham citizens all took warning and were careful how they talked of the base uses to which they had been put. Some of them consented to abscond. Some of them agreed to go into hiding. Some of them disappeared under suspicious circumstances—"whether murdered or not is unknown." The fact remains, however, that Casey was assassinated in order to keep Shugart in his Senatorial seat, which after all he lost. The knavery did not prosper; but this will not prevent the Pennsylvania Democracy from trying the experiment again, should the same circumstances call for a repetition of the bold iniquity. Enterprising voters who think to turn an honest penny in the Pennsylvania market this Fall will do well to remember the fate of Casey, and of the other voters of the XXIst Senate District who "have disappeared from the eyes of men—whether murdered or not." Those who buy them like cattle to-day will not shrink from braining them like cattle to-morrow.—Tribune.

Gov Brownlow of Tennessee, in his newspaper, The Knoxville Whig, expresses the following opinion: "Of the States now in the Union, we concede Kentucky and Maryland as certainly against Grant—Oregon and Connecticut we set down as doubtful, All the other States we claim for Grant, no matter who may be nominated at the New-York gathering of old Democratic prostitutes, Whig renegades, and defeated Rebels. Of the Southern States that may be admitted to vote, we claim one-half for Grant, certain, and consequently we claim the triumphant election of the Republican ticket."

There is a man down East, a rather facetious fellow, whose name is New. He named his first child Something, it was something New. The next was Nothing; it being nothing New.

Great Truths.

General Grant, though not a politician, has a parenthetical way of stating great truths and sententious facts which is remarkable.

As early as the second year of the war, in a letter to Mr. Washburne, he writes: "I never was an abolitionist—not even what could be called anti-slavery—but I try to judge fairly and honestly, and it became patent to my mind early in the rebellion that the North and South could never live in peace with each other except as one nation, and that without slavery."

And again: "As anxious as I am to see peace established, I would not, therefore, be willing to see any settlement until this question is settled."

In his general order to his soldiers after the capture of General Lee, in referring to the enforcement of the emancipation proclamation, he calls "slavery the cause and pretext of the rebellion."

In his famous letter to the President, while acting as Secretary of war ad interim, he says: "I stated that the law was binding upon me, constitutional or not, until set aside by the proper tribunal"—a doctrine that will do to stand by.

In his testimony before the impeachment committee, he says: "I have always been attentive to my own duties, and tried not to interfere with other people's." And again, "I never was in favor of a general amnesty until the time should come when it would be safe to give it."

In his correspondence with President Johnson in reference to the removal of General Sheridan from the district of Louisiana, he says: "This is a Republic where the will of the people is the law of the land. I beg that their voice may be heard."

In his speech to the committee appointed to inform him of his nomination, he said: "If chosen President, I shall have no policy of my own to enforce against the will of the people."

In his letter accepting the Republican nomination, he says: "Purely administrative officers should always be left to execute the will of the people. I have always respected that will and always shall."

These are only samples of General Grant's manner of expressing great truths, culled at random from our files; but they are "apples of gold in pictures of silver," and show to the people the manner of man he is.

Satisfaction at Twenty Paces.

In the olden time, to entitle a man to the honor of making his wife a widow, and himself a fool at the same time, it was necessary that he should hold some sort of distinguished relation to society; but in this day the parvenu and the sans culotte possesses every requisite necessary for the performance. We read in an exchange paper that two negroes, in Mississipi, have been blazing away at each other, with revolvers, washing clean their soiled honor in blood. This is all right, Sambo has just as good right to make a fool of himself as has a white man.

Yankee Notions has a capital thing. The free Constitution is seen badly hacked; beside it stands Butler with a hatchet hid behind; on the other side is the President, is a barefooted boy; in front is Uncle Sam with a big whip, with this dialogue beneath:

Uncle Sam—Who has been trying to cut down the tree?

B. F. B. (as the youthful Father of his country)—Father, I cannot tell a lie—'twas Andy Johnson.

E. C. Webster, editor of the La Salle Press announces that although he publishes an independent press, he intends to vote for Grant, "because we believe that Grant is better than the party that nominated him; we regard him as an honest man, a clear-headed, common sense man; who answers his wife's description of him while he was was hammering away at Richmond, a 'dreadfully obstinate man.'"

The Press aptly remarks, that Gen. Grant's powers of smoking are giving trouble to the Democratic journals. The same papers were similarly troubled with the smoke this Republican Chieftain and his Republican soldiers made at Fort Donelson, Vicksburg, Murfreesboro, Chickamauga, Atlanta, and along the Appomattox.

Women's Rights have achieved an extreme illustration in the Paraguayan war. Lopas has organized and armed a corps of four thousand women under the command of Brigadier Gen. Eliza Lynch, an Irish woman, who is said to be the real, ruling spirit in the bitter conflict against the allied invaders.

Mr. Wilson's resolution, authorizing the officers and soldiers of the army to wear the corps badges of their fighting service, is eminently judicious. These grand old emblems—the acorns, crosses, and clover leaves that gleamed in battle are the true heraldry of the land.

Matthew Vasser, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., the founder of Vassar College, died suddenly on June 23, while reading his usual address before the trustees of the college at their annual meeting, then in session. He had just completed his seventy-seventh year.

Bob Way, the champion jumper, has contracted to jump five hundred feet at fifty consecutive jumps, without rest, for $500 a side. We would n't do it for $5,000.

Reverdy Johnson, our new Minister to England, will leave on about the 20th of July. In the meantime he will retain his seat in the United States Senate.

Disfranchising White Men.

Twelve hundred southern white men were, on Monday, made citizens by act of Congress. All the Democrats in the House, except one, voted against removing the political disabilities of these twelve hundred. We have been told so often by the Democrats that this is a white man's government, that we supposed, not unnaturally, they would joyfully vote to make it so; but they seem to prefer what they call negro rule. The fact is, we suppose, that they would disfranchise everybody but the Democrats; for we notice that wherever they can get a negro to vote the Democratic ticket they have nothing to say against black votes.—N. Y. Post.

Arkansas.

Gen. Schofield on the 25th inst. notified Gen. Grant officially of the passage of the bill restoring Arkansas to the Union and of the admission of her Senators and Representatives to Congress, and Gen. Grant will to-morrow notify Gen. McDowell of these facts, and direct him to turn over the Government of the State to the civil authority as rapidly as he deems it prudent.

MANHOOD: HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED.

Just published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the Radical Cure (without Medicine) of Spermatorrhœa or Seminal, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to marriage etc.; Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits, Induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents.

The celebrated author, in this admirable essay clearly demonstrated from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Sent, under seal in a plain envelope, to any address postpaid, on receipt of six cents, or two post stamps. Also Dr. Culverwell's "Marriage Guide," price 25 cents. Address the publishers,

NOTICE TO ATTORNEYS.—Attorneys will be held responsible for Paper Books, Advertising and Job Work, ordered by them and not paid for in advance. Such bills to be collectable on demand.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—The attention of our readers is specially directed to the following advertisements, which appear for the first time in our paper to-day.

☞Waverly Novels—D. Appleton & Co.
☞Startling Intelligence—Frank McGurgan.
☞Manhood; How Lost, How Restored—Chas. J. C. Kline & Co.

READ HIM.—Read Nasby this week. It is good for the sore head or the negro-fright.

VACATION.—One week vacation to allow Students attending school to "celebrate," began Monday.

ONE of the best selected stock of Dress Goods in the county will be found at Fordyce's New Store.

POP VISIT.—'Johnny' M'Williams, junior on the Washington Reporter, made us a flying call on Wednesday last. Come again "Mack."

FAMOUS.—The "Sherman House" is a famous place to get a good dinner. "Tom" Bradley keeps up with the times—that is, he supplies his table with the delicacies of the season, served in the most approved style.

UNFORTUNATE FALL.—On the 16th inst., Mrs. M. K. B. Miller, wife of Dr. A. B. Miller, of our town, in making the descent of a precipitous stairway, with a babe sixteen months old in her arms, fell and so injured the child that its life is despaired of. The mother escaped with slight bruises.

P. S. The child died on Sunday morning.

PAY UP!—Persons knowing or suspecting themselves indebted to the firm of A. Mildred & Co., by note or book account, will feel themselves called upon to settle before the 1st of Aug. prox. After that date all outstanding debts will be put into proper hands for collection and collected if possible.

A. MILDRED & Co.

NORMAL SCHOOL.—The Normal School, in connection with Waynesburg College, will begin its Session, Monday July 13th. It will be conducted by myself assisted by the teachers of the College. Persons expecting to teach the coming winter would do well to avail themselves of this opportunity of preparing for their work. T. J. TEAL,
County Sup't.

THE MONONGAHELA.—The repairs on the dam at lock No. 2 on the Monongahela are progressing rapidly. It was the intention of the contractor to sink the crib in the break on the 23d, and he hopes to have the work completed within three weeks. The "Active," the only steamer running for some weeks past made her last through trip Tuesday, of last week, and navigation will be closed until the lock is completed.

RECOMMEND.—Our Printers are looking forward to a day of recreation and a week of rest; it being the custom of this office not to issue any paper the first week in July. We would freely recommend our printers, the "devil" included, as young Gents of good moral characters not addicted to any bad habits, able and anxious to wait on the young Ladies, and also fully prepared to eat their share of all the good things set before them at any time or at any place.

DEPARTED.—On Monday A. A. Parman, Esq., one of the Delegates from this District, accompanied by several citizens of our place, left for the Metropolis to attend the Copperhead Convention on the 4th. They should by all means visit Baxter Street and the Points if they have any curiosity to see Democratic strong-holds. But should Mr. Purman essay to speak his piece he must be careful not to offend the "unwashed" as they have an unpleasant habit of tossing brickbats instead of boquets. We understand others of our Democratic friends will, "if business commits, attend the invention."

MR. JOHN HARPER, President of the Bank of Pittsburgh, says: "I had recently the pleasure of examining the working of the Banking Department of the Iron City College, and was surprised at its thorough practical organization. It is an important adjunct to a Business College, and any young man will be greatly benefited by going through it, no matter what his vocation may be."

The course of study in this College is highly endorsed by the leading bankers of Pittsburgh as will be seen on examination of its circular copies of which can be obtained by addressing the Principals, Smith & Cowley, Pittsburgh, Pa.

EFFECTS OF LIGHTNING.—The severe rain and hail storm of last Wednesday was accompanied by sharp lightning and heavy reports of thunder. A locust tree was struck near Hook's mill and shorn of its bark and branches. A young lady in a house near was prostrated senseless by the shock and the miller knocked from a burr upon which he was seated.

Mr. "Win." Curl of Carmichaels, lost a fine mare, valued, we believe, at $300, by the electric fluid, and a horse worth $200 belonging in the same family, was killed. "Win." had two races, one last Saturday at Brownsville, and one at Oakland next Saturday, which the death of his mare will prevent him from winning.

THE PIC-NIC.—The Temperance pic-nic to come off on the Fourth under the auspices of the I. O. of G. T. have adopted the following programme: The Sabbath Schools and those outside who wish to participate, will meet at the Court House at nine and one-half o'clock A. M., and forming will march to the Hall of the Good Templars who will join them and with the National Brass Band will proceed to the grove where the pic-nic is to be held. As many as can will provide themselves with baskets of refreshments to be distributed among the children in addition to what the Committee on Refreshments may procure. At the grove music, toasts and speeches, will be in order. There will be a large turnout if the day is propitious.

G. A. R.—On the 24th inst., a detail from Post 54, of Washington, Pa., established Post 135, of the Grand Army of the Republic at this place. The organization begins under favorable auspices and will increase in numbers with age. It is purely for the advancement of Soldiers in social and political circles, composed only of soldiers of good standing. The immense good accomplished elsewhere and the great numbers belonging to this order will commend it to every honorably discharged soldier or sailor in the land as an ally.

An election resulted in the following choice of officers: P. C., Robert Adams; S. V. C., Capt. Wm. F. Scott; Junior V. C., H. A. Rinehart; Adjt., L. K. Grim; Q. M., Wm. ——; O. D., J. H. Carson; O. G., A. A. Baily, ——; Chaplain, ——.

THE MASON WALK.—To-day one week ago the Masonic fraternity, consisting of the Lodge at this place and detachments from those at Brownsville and Washington, celebrated the anniversary of St. John, the Evangelist. The largest crowd of the season was present. At 10½ o'clock A. M., the procession formed at the Court House and headed by the National Brass Band, of Waynesburg, marched to the Hall at the east end of town and were there joined by the Knight Templars and a Band of Music, from Carmichaels. The column paraded our principal street, to fine airs discoursed by the bands and then proceeded to a grove near town, known as "Worley's Woods," when they were addressed by Rev. Wakefield, D. D., of the M. E. Church. This address will be published shortly in our columns and shall speak for itself. After the exercises in the woods the assemblage returned and dispersed. During the day there was much to be seen some of which might be told. Quite a rivalry seemed to exist between the musicians of the two bands and after parade was dismissed each band played a lively air or two on the street, both acquitting themselves well. The National B. B., in their new velvet caps of the navy pattern, cut a dashing figure where they moved in the crowd. They seemed to be admired by the ladies. The young men and ladies "from the country" were out in force in their holiday suits, and ice-cream and soda-water venders gathered large profits from plethoric pockets. It is a perfect study to watch the crowd as they jostle by or are knotted in groups, suffering themselves to be elbowed and pushed but never offering to step aside. A quartette of blooming lasses gossiping in big's glee attract your attention. One draws her hand from her pocket and unrolling a bit of paper displays to her companions what you imagine is a felon or a severe cut on the hand. The fingers are saffron-tinted and discolored and each takes hold with the seeming intent of commiserating her misfortune when suddenly, as if by command, go hands to mouths and you realize they are only enjoying a quiet "dip" of snuff. "What a fall was there!" Among the invites there is a due amount of "sharps" and "flats" the first easily distinguished by their swagger and the latter by the hold he has on Sally's arm, or waist, or hand, swinging carelessly along. Equally silly and superfluous are the many airs of Flora and Augustus, but of all these things we cannot and did not mean to speak. About half past two a heavy storm of hail and rain drenched earth and sent the crowd to "cover," as quick as ever did a puff of smoke from an enemy's battery a fatigue party. Soon no appearance of activity presented itself on the streets, but as the rain ceased feet clattered on the side walk and the rattle of horses hoofs and wheels announced the departure. Of drunkenness there was a number of of cases but no rows as a result. The Mayor was the recipient of numerous calls during the day by parties anxious to contribute their mite to sustain the Commonwealth. About eighteen dollars were deposited in the public contribution box by these generous souls. Wouldn't it pay to have a jollification every other day? It wouldn't take long to liquidate the borough debt?

WASHINGTON COUNTY.—The Republican Convention met on Monday of last week and nominated the following ticket: Congress, Geo. V. Lawrence; Assembly, H. J. Vankirk, A. J. Buffington; District Attorney, John W. Dunbar; Com., Ross Sweeny; Director of Poor, Sam'l Kelley; Auditor, David Hart. The resolutions endorse the action of the Chicago Convention, compliment Grant and Geary, eulogize Lawrence, thank the soldiers and sailors, and pledge Washington county Republicans to support the nominations. Hon. Galusha A. Grow was present and made them a speech.

The friends of the Chartier's Road were again in council at Canonsburg on the 19th inst. $228,125,00 are now reported subscribed and still the good work goes on. They want $300,000.

The editor of the Reporter, was warned by the Ku Klux that "he is not safe after night!" a short time since. He seems to think it his own business and is willing to risk it.

"THEY made her a grave too cold and damp
For a soul so honest and true."

If they had been wise, the dire necessity of opening the grave for one so lovely might have been averted. Plantation Bitters if timely used, are sure to rescue the young and lovely, the middle-aged, and the ailing, from confirmed sickness.

Almost all diseases have their begining in some slight difficulty of the Stomach, which would eventuate in Dyspepsia, Headache, Liver Complaints, Night Sweats, Consumption Death. Plantation Bitters will prevent these premonitory symptoms, and keep the blood pure and the health good.

While they invigorate the system they enliven the mind.

MAGNOLIA WATER.—A delightful toilet article—superior to Cologne and at half the price.

JUST OPENED.—A new and complete stock of Boots and Shoes, at M. C. & H. Bell's cheap store, Sayer' corner, Waynesburg. Among their stock will be found all the Spring Styles, direct from the manufacturers, selected by M. C. Bell expressly for this market.

INTERTROPICAL fragrance rises in invisible clouds the moment that a bottle of Phalon's "Flor de Mayo," the new perfume for the handkerchief, is opened; one single drop scents a handkerchief. Sold by all druggists.

THE trade of Fordyce & Son at Jefferson is gradually increasing and the reason is their customers are always sure of getting good goods and have no trouble to buy them at a fair price.

THE Normal School is well provided with facilities for preparing teachers. It has a superior set of apparatus. Text Books in the common branches are furnished free.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH.—Those wishing to celebrate the day rightly should first buy them a good suit of clothes at Frank McGurgan's.

WE advise all young people who intend going from home to school, to go to the State Normal School at Edinboro. It is cheap, thorough and practical.

HOME AGAIN!—Guiher is proud to declare that he has the nicest stock of Summer Goods you ever "went any place!"

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

SATURDAY, June 27, 1868.

It is now quite evident that there will be no general revival in business until the new cereal crops begin to move. Flour has been moderatively active, but the inquiry confined to small lots. The provision market is quiet and unchanged. Grains are generally dull and drooping. There has a moderate inquiry for groceries in small lots.

We quote as follows, which are the wholesale prices:

PENNA. CENTRAL STOCK YARDS.

PITTSBURGH, June 25, 1868.

CATTLE.—The supply of cattle this week was large, while the sales exceed any week for the past three months. Prices, however, were a shade below last week. Buyers were on hand and took hold liberally. There were several eastern buyers on hand. The extreme prices this week were $5 75@8 12 against $5 75@8 62 for the previous week. At the close a number of lots remained in pens. Among them were some fine Kentucky stock that were intended for the Eastern market, and will be forwarded. Forty car loads of cattle were forwarded East. We noticed the arrival of several lots from Greene and Fayette counties.

SHEEP.—The market may be termed an active one. Prices have declined one dollar and twenty-five cents since the date of our last review. At the close a great many remained unsold.

HOGS.—The market was an active one. The sales were large at an advance of $1 25 ₰ hundred. The sales were principally on eastern account.

WOOL.

The New York "Tribune" of the 27th has the following: The arrivals of new-clip Western Fleece continue fair; very little doing—the old stock goes off slowly—all grades are dull, and the market somewhat heavy; byers look for a decline; manufacturers only operate in a private way. Foreign Wool is dull and prices nominal. We quote as follows: Domestic Fleeces at 44@47c. for Native and ¼ Merinos, 48@53c. for ⅜ and ½ do., 48@53 for full-blooded Merinos, and 53@60 for Saxony fleeces; 30@37 for No. 1 Pulled, 42@48 for Superfine do., and 43@49 for Extra do.

Markets.

NEW YORK DRY GOODS MARKET.

NEW YORK, June 27.—Dry Goods with the stoppage of one-fourth of cotton machinery of the east, prices are on the rise in sympathy with the raw material. Standard Brown Sheetings are in reduced supply and firm at 17½@18c for best make, and second at 16½@17c. Fine Sheetings, like Atlantic have advanced to 16c, and Shirtings like the V brand of the same make to 13c. Most of the light styles of printed Calicoes and Delaines have been entirely closed out at the recent low prices, and in a week or fortnight darker styles will be put upon the market at a much higher rate.

WE learn from exchanges that work will be immediately resumed on the Connellsville Railroad. An engineer corps goes into the field this week for the purpose of resetting the stakes, &c. along the line. The contractor at the Sand Patch Tunnel has been instructed to resume work at once, and forty miles, comprising the heaviest sections between the Tunnel and Connellsville will be let to contract, as soon as proper notice inviting proposals can be advertised, and bids examined. Heavy subscriptions to the bonds of the company are being made at Baltimore, and at other points along the line, and in a few days all the money necessary to insure the completion of the road within twenty months will have been obtained. The machinations of the Penna. Central, and Fort Wayne and Chicago have come to naught, and within two years, a through line from Bremen to Chicago and the far west, via Baltimore, and Pittsburg, will be an accomplished fact.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE.

By an order of the Court of Greene County, the undersigned Administrators of the estate of Thomas Hines, dec'd., will offer for sale, on the premises, at Rice's Landing, Greene co., Pa., on

SATURDAY, THE 18TH DAY OF JULY,

at 10 o'clock, a. m., if not sold before by private sale, the two-thirds of the following described property, viz: One tract of land containing about 50 acres, on which are erected one large

TWO STORY FRAME DWELLING,

One Ware house, one saw mill frame, good permanent foundation, and well roofed, with a good chimney stack. The saw mill is large and new, and well calculated for both Saw and Planing Mill. There will also be offered one

ENGINE AND BOILER.

The above mentioned property will be offered in lots or as a whole, as may seem best for the estate, on day of sale. It is situated on the Monongahela river, about twelve miles above Brownsville. Persons wishing good town property or a good location for a saw Mill or Planing Mill, or both, would do well to call and examine, we think they will pronounce this one of the best frames on the river.

TERMS OF SALE:

One-half on confirmation of sale, one-half in three months thereafter, with interest from confirmation, when Deed will be made.

☞The remaining one-third is for sale, and may be offered on the same day by the owner.

A STANDARD WORK.

A DICTIONARY OF THE BIBLE, Comprising its Antiquities, Biography, Geography and Natural History, with numerous Illustrations and Maps. Edited by William Smith, LL. D. Published by Messrs. J. B. Burr & Co., Hartford, Ct.

This work is a timely response to a widespread and urgent necessity of all Bible readers. Being the only American Edition of the only abridgment by the author's own hand of his voluminous Dictionary, which is too costly for the common purse—it is at once the only perfectly reliable and practical one, containing all that the general reader and student can wish. The publishers have in this given the public a volume of which they may well be proud. It is a standard work, commends itself to all who examine it, and should be found in every family. Be careful to get this edition, if you would have the most reliable Dictionary at the most reasonable price. It is sold by subscription only. Agents should address the publishers at once.

Miscellaneous.

640 MILES

OF THE

UNION PACIFIC

RAILROAD

Are now finished and in operation. Sixty miles of the track have been laid this spring, and the work along the whole line between the Atlantic and Pacific States is being pushed forward more rapidly than ever before. More than twenty thousand men are employed, and it is not impossible that the entire track, from Omaha to Sacramento, will be finished in 1869 instead o 1870. The means provided are ample, and all that energy, men and money can do to secure the completion of this

at the earliest possible day, will be done.

The UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY receive:

I.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of the right of way, and all necessary timber and other materials found along the line of its operations.

II.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of 12,000 acres of land to the mile, taken in alternate sections on each side of its road. This is an absolute donation, and will be a source of large revenue in the future.

III.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of United States Thirty-year Bonds, amounting to from $16,000 to $48,000 per mile, according to the difficulties to be surmounted on the various sections to be built. The Government takes a second mortgage as security, and it is expected that not only the interest, but the principal amount may be paid in services rendered by the Company in transporting troops, mails, &c. The interest is now more than paid in this way, besides securing a great saving in time and money to the Government.

IV.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of the right to issue its own FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to aid in building the road, to the same amount as the U. S. Bonds, issued for the same purpose, and NO MORE. THE GOVERNMENT PERMITS the Trustees for the First Mortgage Bondholders to deliver the Bonds to the Company only as the road is completed, and after it has been examined by United States Commissioners and pronounced to be in all respects a first-class Railroad, laid with a heavy Trail, and completely supplied with depots, stations, turnouts, car-shops, locomotives, cars, &c.

V.—A CAPITAL STOCK SUBSCRIPTION from the stockholders, of which over EIGHT MILLION DOLLARS have been paid in upon the work already done, and which will be increased as the wants of the Company require.

VI.—NET CASH EARNINGS on its Way Business, that already amount to MORE THAN THE INTEREST on the First Mortgage Bonds. These earnings are no indication of the vast through traffic that must follow the opening of the line to the Pacific, but they certainly prove the

upon such property, costing nearly three times their amount,

ARE SECURE BEYOND ANY CONTINGENCY.

The Union Pacific Bonds are for $1,000 each and have coupons attached. They have thirty years to run, and bear annual interest, payable on the first days of January and July at the Company's Office in the City of New York, at the rate of six per cent. in gold. The Principal is payable in gold at maturity. The price is 102, and at the present rate of gold, these bonds pay a liberal income on their cost.

The Company believe that these Bonds, at the present rate are the cheapest security in the market, and reserve the right to advance the price at any time.

Parties subscribing will remit the par value of the bonds and the accrued interest in currency at the rate of six per cent. per annum, from the date on which the last coupon was paid. Subscriptions will be received in Waynesburg, Pa., BY THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK,

In New York

AT THE COMPANY'S OFFICE, 20 Nassau St., and by

JOHN J. CISCO & SON, Bankers, 59 Wall St., and by the Company's Advertising Agents throughout the United States.

Remittances should be made in drafts or other funds par in New York, and the Bonds will be sent free of charge by return express. Parties subscribing through local agents, will look to them for their safe delivery.

A PAMPHLET AND MAP for 1868 has just been published by the Company, giving fuller information than is possible in an advertisement, respecting the progress of the work, the resources of the country traversed by the Road, the means for construction, and the value of the bonds, which will be sent free on application at the Company's offices or to any of the advertised agents.

JOHN J. CISCO, Treasurer, New York.

Sewing Machines.

THE WORLD RENOWNED

SINGER

SEWING MACHINE.

OUR NEW FAMILY MACHINE,

Has been over two years in preparation, and which has been brought to perfection regardless of time, labor or expense, and is now confidently presented to the public as incomparably the best Sewing Machine in existence.

The Machine in question is simple, compact, durable and beautiful. It is quiet, light running and capable of performing a range and variety of work never before attempted upon a single Machine—using either Silk, Twist, Linen or Cotten Thread, and sewing with equal facility the very finest and coarsest materials, and anything between the two extremes, in the most beautiful and substantial manner. Its attachments for Hemming, Braiding, Cording, Tucking, Quilting, Felling, Trimming, Binding, etc., are Novel and Practical, and have been invented and adjusted especially for this Machine.

New designs of the unique, useful and popular folding tops and cabinet cases peculiar to the Machines manufactured by this Company have been prepared for enclosing the new Machines. These are gotten up in every variety of wood, such as Black Walnut, Mahogany, Rosewood, and the like, and from the plainest to the most elaborate pattern and finish—the Machines themselves being more or less highly ornamented, to correspond with the Tables or Cabinets for which they are intended.

A few reasons why SINGER'S latest improved SEWING MACHINES are the best for Family and General Purposes.

1st. You can sew anything from the finest single thickness of Swiss or Nansook to several thicknesses of the heaviest Beaver cloth, using any kind or size of thread with equal facility, from No. 250 Cotton up to the heaviest patent or Linen thread.

2d. It uses a short, straight needle, easily set, and makes the popular Lock Stitch alike on both sides.

3d. It has an even self-adjusting tension which requires no change for different thicknesses of material or different sizes of thread.

4th. It is free from all springs, wires and other complications, and is almost noiseless.

5th. No threads to hold or wheels to turn in starting.

6th. It does not have to be taken apart to oil and clean it.

7th. It has a perfect feed whereby you can sew the finest materials without having to keep your work stretched to prevent its "puckering," and you never have to assist the work through as in all other machines.

8th. It will hem any width, sew a straight seam, or make a roll in the most perfect manner, with less skill than is required to sew a straight seam on any other machine.

Its attachments for Braiding, Cording, Quilting, Binding, Tucking, &c., are novel and practical, and require but little skill to use them.

Careful instructions given at the house of the purchaser.

Money refunded if the machines are not as represented.

Every machine warranted and kept in repair three years without charge.

NOTICE TO ATTORNEYS.—Attorneys will be held responsible for Paper Books, Advertising and Job Work, ordered by them and not paid for in advance. Such bills to be collectable on demand.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—The attention of our readers is specially directed to the following advertisements, which appear for the first time in our paper to-day.

☞Waverly Novels—D. Appleton & Co.
☞Startling Intelligence—Frank McGurgan.
☞Manhood; How Lost, How Restored—Chas. J. C. Kline & Co.

READ HIM.—Read Nasby this week. It is good for the sore head or the negro-fright.

VACATION.—One week vacation to allow Students attending school to "celebrate," began Monday.

ONE of the best selected stock of Dress Goods in the county will be found at Fordyce's New Store.

POP VISIT.—'Johnny' M'Williams, junior on the Washington Reporter, made us a flying call on Wednesday last. Come again "Mack."

FAMOUS.—The "Sherman House" is a famous place to get a good dinner. "Tom" Bradley keeps up with the times—that is, he supplies his table with the delicacies of the season, served in the most approved style.

UNFORTUNATE FALL.—On the 16th inst., Mrs. M. K. B. Miller, wife of Dr. A. B. Miller, of our town, in making the descent of a precipitous stairway, with a babe sixteen months old in her arms, fell and so injured the child that its life is despaired of. The mother escaped with slight bruises.

P. S. The child died on Sunday morning.

PAY UP!—Persons knowing or suspecting themselves indebted to the firm of A. Mildred & Co., by note or book account, will feel themselves called upon to settle before the 1st of Aug. prox. After that date all outstanding debts will be put into proper hands for collection and collected if possible.

A. MILDRED & Co.

NORMAL SCHOOL.—The Normal School, in connection with Waynesburg College, will begin its Session, Monday July 13th. It will be conducted by myself assisted by the teachers of the College. Persons expecting to teach the coming winter would do well to avail themselves of this opportunity of preparing for their work.

T. J. TEAL,
County Supt.

THE MONONGAHELA.—The repairs on the dam at lock No. 2 on the Monongahela are progressing rapidly. It was the intention of the contractor to sink the crib in the break on the 23d, and he hopes to have the work completed within three weeks. The "Active," the only steamer running for some weeks past made her last through trip Tuesday, of last week, and navigation will be closed until the lock is completed.

RECOMMEND.—Our Printers are looking forward to a day of recreation and a week of rest; it being the custom of this office not to issue any paper the first week in July. We would freely recommend our printers, the "devil" included, as young Gents of good moral characters not addicted to any bad habits, able and anxious to wait on the young Ladies, and also fully prepared to eat their share of all the good things set before them at any time or at any place.

DEPARTED.—On Monday A. A. Parman, Esq., one of the Delegates from this District, accompanied by several citizens of our place, left for the Metropolis to attend the Copperhead Convention on the 4th. They should by all means visit Baxter Street and the Points if they have any curiosity to see Democratic strong-holds. But should Mr. Purman essay to speak his piece he must be careful not to offend the "unsnaped" as they have an unpleasant habit of tossing brickbats instead of boquets. We understand others of our Democratic friends will, "if business commits, attend the invention."

MR. JOHN HAREN, President of the Bank of Pittsburgh, says: "I had recently the pleasure of examinging the working of the Banking Department of the Iron City College, and was surprised at its thorough practical organization. It is an important adjunct to a Business College, and any young man will be greatly benefited by going through it, no matter what his vocation may be."

The course of study in this College is highly endorsed by the leading bankers of Pittsburgh as will be seen on examination of its circular copies of which can be obtained by addressing the Principals, Smith & Cowley, Pittsburgh, Pa.

EFFECTS OF LIGHTNING.—The severe rain and hail storm of last Wednesday was accompanied by sharp lightning and heavy reports of thunder. A locust tree was struck near Hook's mill and shorn of its bark and branches. A young lady in a house near was prostrated senseless by the shock and the miller knocked from a burr upon which he was seated.

Mr. "Win." Curl of Carmichaels, lost a fine mare, valued, we believe, at $500, by the electric fluid, and a horse worth $200 belonging in the same family, was killed. "Win." had two races, one last Saturday at Brownsville, and one at Oakland next Saturday, which the death of his mare will prevent him from winning.

THE PIC-NIC.—The Temperance pic-nic to come off on the Fourth under the auspices of the I. O. of G. T. have adopted the following programme: The Sabbath Schools and those outside who wish to particlpate, will meet at the Court House at nine and one-half o'clock A. M., and forming will march to the Hall of the Good Templars who will join them and with the National Brass Band will proceed to the grove where the pic-nic is to be held. As many as can will provide themselves with baskets of refreshments to be distributed among the children in addition to what the Committee on Refreshments may procure. At the grove music, toasts and speeches, will be in order. There will be a large turnout if the day is propitious.

G. A. R.—On the 24th inst., a detail from Post 54, of Washington, Pa., established Post 135, of the Grand Army of the Republic at this place. The organization begins under favorable auspices and will increase in numbers with age. It is purely for the advancement of Soldiers in social and political circles, composed only of soldiers of good standing. The immense good accomplished elsewhere and the great numbers belonging to this order will commend it to every honorably discharged soldier or sailor in the land as an ally.

An election resulted in the following choice of officers: P. C., Robert Adams; S. V. C., Capt. Wm. F. Scott; Junior V. C., H. A. Rinehart; Adjt., L. K. Grim; Q. M., Wm. Campbell; O. D., J. H. Carson; O. G., A. A. M. Baily.

THE MASON WALK.—To-day one week ago the Masonic fraternity, consisting of the Lodge at this place and detachments from those at Brownsville and Washington, celebrated the anniversary of St. John, the Evangelist. The largest crowd of the season was present. At 10½ o'clock A. M., the procession formed at the Court House and headed by the National Brass Band, of Waynesburg, marched to the Hall at the east end of town and were there joined by the Knight Templars and a Band of Music, from Carmichaels. The column paraded our principal street, to fine airs discoursed by the bands and then proceeded to a grove near town, known as "Worley's Woods," when they were addressed by Rev. Wakefield, D. D., of the M. E. Church. This address will be published shortly in our columns and shall speak for itself. After the exercises in the woods the assemblage returned and dispersed. During the day there was much to be seen some of which might be told. Quite a rivalry seemed to exist between the musicians of the two bands and after parade was dismissed each band played a lively air or two on the street, both acquitting themselves well. The National B. B., in their new velvet caps of the navy pattern, cut a dashing figure where they moved in the crowd. They seemed to be admired by the ladies. The young men and ladies "from the country" were out in force in their holiday suits, and ice cream and soda-water venders gathered large profits from plethoric pockets. It is a perfect study to watch the crowd as they jostle by or are knotted in groups, suffering themselves to be elbowed and pushed but never offering to step aside. A quartette of blooming lasses gossiping in high glee attract your attention. One draws her hand from her pocket and unrolling a bit of paper displays to her companions what you imagine is a felon or a severe cut on the hand. The fingers are saffron-tinted and discolored and each takes hold with the seeming intent of commiserating her misfortune when suddenly, as if by command, go hands to mouths and you realize they are only enjoying a quiet "dip" of snuff. "What a fall was there!" Among the ladies there is a due amount of "sharps" and "flats" the first easily distinguished by their swagger and the latter by the hold he has on Sally's arm, or waist or hand, swinging carelessly along. Equally silly and superfluous are the many airs of Flora and Augustus, but of all these things we cannot and did not mean to speak. About half past two a heavy storm of hail and rain drenched earth and sent the crowd to "cover," as quick as ever did a puff of smoke from an enemy's battery a fatigue party. Soon an appearance of activity presented itself on the streets, but as the rain ceased feet clattered on the side walk and the rattle of horses hoofs and wheels announced the departure. Of drunkenness there was a number of of cases but no rows as a result. The Mayor was the recipient of numerous calls during the day by parties anxious to contribute their mite to sustain the Commonwealth. About eighteen dollars were deposited in the public contribution box by these generous souls. Wouldn't it pay to have a jollification every other day? It wouldn't take long to liquidate the borough debt?

WASHINGTON COUNTY.—The Republican Convention met on Monday of last week and nominated the following ticket: Congress, Geo. V. Lawrence; Assembly, H. J. Vankirk, A. J. Buffington; District Attorney, John W. Dunnan; Com., Ross Sweeny; Director of Poor, Sam'l Kelley; Auditor, David Hart. The resolutions endorse the action of the Chicago Convention, compliment Grant and Geary, eulogize Lawrence, thank the soldiers and sailors and pledge Washington county Republicans to support the nominations. Hon. Giusha A. Grow was present and made them a speech.

The friends of the Chartier's Road were again in counsel at Canonsburg on the 19th inst. $228,125,01 are now reported subscribed and still the good work goes on. They want $300,000.

The editor of the Reporter, was warned by the Ku Klux that "he is not safe after night!" a short time since. He seems to think it his own business and is willing to risk it.

"They made her a grave too cold and damp
For a soul so honest and true."

If they had been wise, the dire necessity of opening the grave for one so lovely might have been averted. Plantation Bitters if timely used, are sure to rescue the young and lovely, the middle-aged, and the ailing, from confirmed sickness.

Almost all diseases have their begining in some slight difficulty of the Stomach, which would eventuate in Dyspepsia, Headache, Liver Complaints, Night Sweats, Consumption Death. Plantation Bitters will prevent these preparatory symptoms, and keep the blood pure and the health good.

While they invigorate the system they enliven the mind.

MAGNOLIA WATER.—A delightful toilet article—superior to Cologne and at half the price

JUST OPENED.—A new and complete stock of Boots and Shoes, at M. C. & H. Bell's cheap store, Sayers' corner, Waynesburg. Among their stock will be found all the Spring Styles, direct from the manufacturers, selected by M. C. Bell expressly for this market.

INTERTROPICAL fragrance lises in invisible clouds the moment that a bottle of Phalon's "Flor de Mayo," the new perfume for the handkerchief, is opened; one single drop scents a handkerchief. Sold by all druggists.

THE trade of Fordyce & Son at Jefferson is gradually increasing and the reason is their customers are always sure of getting good goods and have no trouble to buy them at a fair price.

THE Normal School is well provided with facilites for preparing teachers. It has a superior set of apparatus. Text Books in the common branches are furnished free.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH.—Those wishing to celebrate the day rightly should first buy them a good suit of clothes at Frank McGurgan's.

WE advise all young people who intend going from home to school, to go to the State Normal School at Edinboro. It is cheap, thorough and practical.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

SATURDAY, June 27, 1868.

It is now quite evident that there will be no general revival in business until the new crops begin to move. Flour has been moderatively active, but the inquiry confined to small lots. The provision market is quiet and unchanged. Grains are generlly dull and drooping. There is a moderate inquiry for groceries in small lots.

We quote as follows, which are the wholesale prices:

PENNA. CENTRAL STOCK YARDS.

PITTSBURGH, June 25, 1868.

CATTLE—The supply of cattle this week was large, while the sales exceed any week for the past three months. Prices, however, were a shade below last week. Buyers were on hand and took hold liberally. There were several eastern buyers on hand. The extreme prices this week were $5 50@6 12 against $5 75@6 62 for the previous week. At the close a number of lots remained in pens. Among them were some fine Kentucky stock that were intended for the Eastern market, and will be forwarded. Forty car loads of cattle were forwarded East. We noticed the arrival of several lots from Greene and Fayette counties.

SHEEP—The market may be termed an active one. Prices have declined one dollar and twenty-five cents since the date of our last review. At the close a great many remained unsold.

HOGS—The market was an active one. The sales were large at an advance of $1 25 ₩ hundred. The sales were principally on eastern account.

WOOL.

The New York "Tribune" of the 27th has the following: The arrivals of new-clip Western Fleece continue fair; very little doing—the old stock goes off slowly—all grades are dull, and the market somewhat heavy; byers look for a decline; manufacturers only operate in a private way. Foreign Wool is dull and prices nominal. We quote as follows: Domestic Fleeces at 44@47c. for Native and ¼ Merinos, 48@53c. for ¼ and ⅜ do., 48@53 for full-blooded Merinos, and 55@60 for Saxony fleeces; 30@37 for No. 1 Pulled. 42@45 for Superfine do., and 43@49 for Extra do.

Markets.

NEW YORK DRY GOODS MARKET.

NEW YORK, June 27.—Dry Goods with the stoppage of one-fourth of cotton machinery of the east, prices are on the rise in sympathy with the raw material. Standard Brown Sheetings are in reduced supply and firm at 17½@18c for best make, and second at 16½@17c. Fine Sheetings, like Atlantic have advanced to 16c, and Shirtings like the V brand of the same make to 15c. Most of the light styles of printed Calicoes and Delaines have been entirely closed out at the recent low prices, and in a week or fortnight darker styles will be put upon the market at a much higher rate.

WE learn from exchanges that work will be immediately resumed on the Connellsville Railroad. An engineer corps goes into the field this week for the purpose of resetting the stakes, &c. along the line. The contractor at the Sand Patch Tunnel has been instructed to resume work at once, and forty miles, comprising the heaviest sections between the Tunnel and Connellsville will be let to contract, as soon as proper notice inviting proposals can be advertised, and bids examined. Heavy subscriptions to the bonds of the company are being made at Baltimore, and at other points along the line, and in a few days all the money necessary to insure the completion of the road within twenty months will have been obtained. The machinations of the Penna. Central, and Fort Wayne and Chicago have come to naught, and within two years, a through line from Bremen to Chicago and the far west, via Baltimore, and Pittsburg, will be an accomplished fact.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE.

By an order of the Court of Greene County, the undersigned Administrators of the estate of Thomas Allfree, dec'd., will offer for sale, on the premises, at Ross's Landing, Greene co., Pa., on

SATURDAY, THE 18TH DAY OF JULY,

at 10 o'clock, a. m., (if not sold before by private sale), the two-thirds of the following described property, viz: One tract of land containing about 350 acres, on which are erected one large

TWO STORY FRAME DWELLING,

One Ware house, one saw mill frame good permanent foundation, and well roofed, with a good chimney stack. The saw mill is large and new, and well calculated for both Saw and Planing Mill. There will also be offered one

ENGINE AND BOILER.

The above mentioned property will be offered in lots or as a whole, as may seem best for the estate, on day of sale. It is situate on the Monongahela river, about twelve miles above Brownsville. Persons wishing good town property or a good location for a Saw Mill or Planing Mill, or both, would do well to call and examine, we think they will pronounce this one of the best frames on the river.

TERMS OF SALE.

One-half on confirmation of sale, one-half in three months thereafter, with interest from confirmation, when Deed will be made.

☞The remaining one-third is for sale, and may be offered on the same day by the owner.

A STANDARD WORK.

A DICTIONARY OF THE BIBLE, Comprising its Antiquities, Biography, Geography and Natural History, with numerous Illustrations and Maps. Edited by William Smith, LL. D. Published by Messrs. J. B. Burr & Co., Hartford, Ct.

This work is a timely response to a widespread and urgent necessity of all Bible readers. Being the only American Edition of the only abridgment by the author's own hand of his voluminous Dictionary, which is too costly for the common purse—it is at once the only perfectly reliable and practical one, containing all that the general reader and student can wish. The publishers have in this given the public a volume of which they may well be proud. It is a standard work, commends itself to all who examine it, and should be found in every family. Be careful to get this edition, if you would have the most reliable Dictionary at the most reasonable price. It is sold by subscription only. Agents should address the publishers at once.

640 MILES

OF THE

RAILROAD

Are now finished and in operation. Sixty miles of the track have been laid this spring, and the work along the whole line between the Atlantic and Pacific States is being pushed forward more rapidly than ever before. More than twenty thousand men are employed, and it is not impossible that the entire track, from Omaha to Sacramento, will be finished in 1869 instead o 1870. The means provided are ample, and all that energy, men and money can do to secure the completion of this

at the earliest possible day, will be done.

The UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY receive:

I.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of the right of way, and all necessary timber and other materials found along the line of its operations.

II.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of 12,000 acres of land to the mile, taken in alternate sections on each side of its road. This is an absolute donation, and will be a source of large revenue in the future.

III.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of United States Thirty-year Bonds, amounting to from $16,000 to $48,000 per mile, according to the difficulties to be surmounted on the various sections, to be built. The Government takes a second mortgage as security, and it is expected that not only the interest, but the principal amount may be paid in services rendered by the Company in transporting troops, mails, &c. The interest is now more than paid in this way, besides securing a great saving in time and money to the Government.

IV.—A GOVERNMENT GRANT of the right to issue its own FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to aid in building the road, to the same amount as the U. S. Bonds, issued for the same purpose, and NO MORE. THE GOVERNMENT PERMITS the Trustees for the First Mortgage Bondholders to deliver the Bonds to the Company only as the road is completed, and after it has been examined by United States Commissioners and pronounced to be in all respects a first-class Railroad, laid with a heavy Trail, and completely supplied with depots, stations, turnouts, car-shops, locomotives, cars, &c,

V.—A CAPITAL STOCK SUBSCRIPTION from the stockholders, of which OVER EIGHT MILLION DOLLARS have been paid in upon the work already done, and which will be increased as the wants of the Company require.

VI.—NET CASH EARNINGS on its Way Business, that already amount to MORE THAN THE INTEREST on the First Mortgage Bonds. These earnings are no indication of the vast through traffic that must follow the opening of the line to the Pacific, but they certainly prove the

upon such property, costing nearly three times their amount,

ARE SECURE BEYOND ANY CONTINGENCY.

The Union Pacific Bonds are for $1,000 each and have coupons attached. They have thirty years to run, and bear annual interest, payable on the first days of January and July at the Company's Office in the City of New York, at the rate of six per cent. in gold. The Principal is payable in gold at maturity. The price is 102, and at the present rate of gold, these bonds pay a liberal income on their cost.

The Company believe that these Bonds, at the present rate are the cheapest security in the market, and reserve the right to advance the price at any time.

Parties subscribing will remit the par value of the bonds and the accrued interest in currency at the rate of six per cent. per annum, from the date on which the last coupon was paid. Subscriptions will be received in Waynesburg, Pa., BY THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK,

In New York

AT THE COMPANY'S OFFICE, 20 Nassau St. and by

JOHN J. CISCO & SON, Bankers, 59 Wall St. And by the Company's Advertising Agents throughout the United States.

Remittances should be made in drafts or other funds par in New York, and the Bonds will be sent free of charge by return express. Parties subscribing through local agents, will look to them for their safe delivery.

A PAMPHLET AND MAP for 1868 has just been published by the Company, giving fuller information than is possible in an advertisement, respecting the progress of the work, the resources of the country traversed by the Road, the means for construction, and the value of the bonds, which will be sent free on application at the Company's offices or to any of the advertised agents.

JOHN J. CISCO, Treasurer, New York.

Sewing Machines.

THE WORLD RENOWNED

SINGER

SEWING MACHINE.

OUR NEW FAMILY MACHINE,

Has been over two years in preparation, and which has been brought to perfection regardless of time, labor or expense, and is now confidently presented to the public as incomparably the best Sewing Machine in existence.

The Machine in question is simple, compact, durable and beautiful. It is quiet, light running and capable of performing a range and variety of work never before attempted upon a single Machine—using either Silk, Twist, Linen or Cotten Thread, and sewing with equal facility the very finest and coarsest materials, and anything between the two extremes, in the most beautiful and substantial manner. Its attachments for Hemming, Braiding, Cording, Tucking, Quilting, Felling, Trimming, Binding, etc., are Novel and Practical, and have been invented and adjusted especially for this Machine.

New designs of the unique, useful and popular folding tops and cabinet cases peculiar to the Machines manufactured by this Company have been prepared for enclosing the new Machines. These are gotten up in every variety of wood, such as Black Walnut, Mahogany, Rosewood, and the like, and from the plainest to the most elaborate pattern and finish—the Machines themselves being more or less highly ornamented, to correspond with the Tables or Cabinets for which they are intended.

A few reasons why SINGER'S latest improved SEWING MACHINES are the best for Family and General Purposes.

1st. You can sew anything from the finest single thickness of Swiss or Nansook to several thicknesses of the heaviest Beaver cloth, using any kind or size of thread with equal facility; from No. 150 cotton up to the heaviest patent or Linen thread.

2d. It uses a short, straight needle, easily set, and makes the popular Lock Stitch alike on both sides.

3d. It has an even self-adjusting tension which requires no change for different thicknesses or material or different sizes of thread.

4th. It is free from all springs, wires and other complications, and is almost noiseless.

5th. No threads to hold or wheels to turn in starting.

6th. It does not have to be taken apart to oil and clean it.

7th. It has a perfect feed whereby you can sew the finest materials without having to keep your work stretched to prevent its "puckering," and you never have to assist the work through as in all other machines.

8th. It will hem any width, sew a straight seam, or make a fell in the most perfect manner, with less skill than is required to sew a straight seam on any other machine.

Its attachments for Braiding, Cording, Quilting, Binding, Tucking, etc., are novel and practical, and require but little skill to use them.

Careful instructions given at the house of the purchaser.

Money refunded if the machines are not as represented.

Every machine warranted and kept in repair three years without charge.

PATRICK'S ATTEMPT AT GERMAN.

Fredrick the Great, of Prussia, had a great mania for enlisting gigantic soldiers into the Royal Guards, and paid an enormous bounty to his recruiting officers for getting them. One day the recruiting sergeant chanced to spy a Hibernian who was at least seven feet high; he accosted him in English and proposed that he should enlist. The idea of military life and a high bounty so delighted Patrick that he immediately consented.

"But, unless you can speak German the King will not give you so much."

"Oh," said the Irishman, "sure it's I that don't know a word of German."

"But," said the sergeant, "three words will be sufficient, and these you can learn in a short time. The King knows every man in the Guards. As soon as he sees you, he will ride up, and ask you how old you are? You will say, 'twenty-seven.' Next how long have you been in service? You must reply, 'three weeks.' Finally, if you are provided with clothes and rations? You answer, 'both.'

Pat soon learned his answers, but never dreamed of learning questions. In three weeks he appeared before the King in review. His majesty rode up to him. Paddy stepped forward with "present arms."

"How old are you?" said the King.

"Three weeks," said the Irishman.

"How long have you been in service?" asked his majesty.

"Twenty-seven years."

"Am I or you a fool?" roared the King.

"Both," replied Patrick, who was instantly taken to the guard room, but pardoned by the king after he understood the facts of the case.

Ah! yes my friend of city life, such a treat cures such a strife, but better than such dose by far, are pleasures of a fine cigar.—Placer Herald.

Such pleasures may suit baser minds, but with the good no favor finds; we think the purest joy in life, is making love to one's own wife.—Volcano Ledger.

Most wise your choice my worthy friend, in Hymen's joys your cares must end, but we, though tired of single life, can't boast of having our own wife; and so, when 'neath our cares we faint, we fly to kiss some gal that aint—yet.—Napa Reporter.

That lager beer will bile provoke, while fine Havanas' end in smoke. To court one's wife is better far, than lager beer or vile cigar. Kisses the dew of love's young morn, break on the lips as soon born. These are all nought to that greatest joy—the first-born boy!—Evening Ledger.

'Tis true a boy's a wished for blessing, but then suppose the first's a girl! A dear sweet child, with ways caressing, with pouting lips and flaxen curls, with dimpled cheeks and laughing eyes, to come and bid 'papa' good bye! So whether boy or whether t'other, embrace the babe and then the mother. —San Francisco Globe.

HEAVY STORM.

THE Cincinnati papers are full of the big storm that attacked that city on Wednesday night. It seems to have been of unparalleled violence. The fact that quite eight inches of rain fell in something over seven hours, will give an idea of the fury of the tempest. The Cincinnati Gazette says:

The thousands whose eyes were wide open during the whole of those night hours, said that they should never forget those four or five hours when it seemed as if the flood gates of heaven had been opened, and as if the city were shaking to its very foundations with the constant peals of thunder. Men who are not apt to be nervous, quitted their wonted places, fairly terrified by that ceaseless lightning. Prudent business men left their homes to protect stores which they were afraid would be swept away. Guests at a leading hotel sat up all night, and ladies fainted from sheer fright. Every one who listened to the tempest will remember it for life, and with reason, for it was undoubtedly the severest that has ever visited Cincinnati.

The storm did great damages to houses, streets, sewers and bridges also inflicted considerable injury upon the crops in the country.

A DETROIT paper has the following: "One of the Cincinnati newspaper men makes one suit answer for the changes of the year. He gets a suit of thick clothing as cold weather comes on, and by the time hot weather arives, it is worn sufficiently thin to serve for him clothes. When he wears them out then he don't wear them out any more—that is to say, he wears them out until they are so much worn on that he had rather not go out than wear them out any more—then he gets another suit."

Surratt's Release.

Conservatives and ex-rebels, and their sympatizers, are greatly pleased with Surratt's discharge under the murder indictment. He is at the house of one of his friends, and many persons are calling on him this evening. There is not much probability that the trial on the new indictment will begin next week, as he can hardly get ready by that time.

Poetry.

OUR STANDARD BEARERS.

BY J. P. B.

Up, freemen, in your might and glory,
Little child and old man hoary,
Youth matured and man of prime,
Stand to duty—now's the time.
Show the nation that you hate
Every enemy of State.
Shall we yield to despots vile?

Shall recusants, black with guile,

Greet in nothing, without name,
Robbed of Senatorial fame,
Assert again the cause that perished?
Not while heroes live who cherished
Truth and honor more than life,

And bared their bosoms in the strife.
No, the nation now will rise,
Denounce the recreants and despise.

Since Grant, the soldier and the man,
Consents to head our glorious van.
Hang out your banners on the wall,
Unfurl your guidons, one and all,
You never have joined in any fight
Like this. The sacred cause of right,
Established once on battle field,
Remains to us; we cannot yield.

Come from the mountains and the plains
Of all the land, join your refrains,
Lend all your strength, the nation calls,
For volunteers to line her walls.
An army springs from near afar—
Xerxes ne'er led such ranks to war.

"It beats awl," as the Down-East cobbler said, on looking at a shoe-making machine.

WHY is a man who makes his will like a potato which is offered as a sample of a lot? Because he is a testator.

A MAN is a mere telescope in a woman's hands; she draws him out, looks him through, shuts him up, and shelves him.

WHY is a clock the most humble thing in existence? Because it always holds its hands before its face, and, however good its work may be, it is always running itself down.

"How are you to-day?" asked a gentleman of a desponding neighbor. "I'm like the root of your tongue," was the reply. "How so?" "Because I'm down in the mouth."

"WHAT a contradiction a watch is," said Timmins. "How so?" asked Mrs. Timmins. "Why, because it always keeps perfectly dry, although it constantly has a running spring inside."

"How many regular, steady boarders are there in this house?" asked a census-taker of a servant girl. "There's fifteen boarders sir, but not more'n four of 'em steady persons, sir."

THERE is a man living in Omaha who, having been invited to a public game dinner, ate so much bear meat that he went home and hugged his wife, an act which he had never perpetrated before.

"You shall always dwell in my memory, for this favor, sir," said a miserly old hunks to a poor man who had saved his life. "I'd much rather dwell in one of your houses, sir," was the cutting reply.

A THOUGHTFUL and provident old gentleman is going to get his life insured, "so that when he dies he can have something to live on, and not be dependent on the cold charities of the world as he once was."

"THE difference is just here, youngsters," said an illiterate school teacher in TEXAS, "when the earth makes a revolution it turns on its axes, but when the people makes a revolution they turns on their bayonets.

"I SAY, MA," exclaimed a little minx of thirteen, "do you know what the pyrotechnical remedy is for a crying infant?" "Gracious goodness me! NO; I never heard of such a thing!" "Well, ma, it's rocket!

THERE is a man in Jersey City so mean that he buttons his shirt with wafers. He looks at his money through a magnifying glass. By this means he says, a ten cent stamp looks as big as a thousand dollar greenback.

A COACH containing a man and a woman, with one trunk on behind, is pleasingly suggestive of matrimony; but a half dozen young ones, and seven band boxes, is much more suggestive—there's no mistaking that sign.

AUGUSTUS, on reading an account of the murder of a woman, declared that a man who would kill a woman must be a vulgar fiend. "Why, Gus," exclaimed his sister, "I thought you'd prided yourself on being a lady killer ever since your mustache took root." Augustus was silent.

A TEACHER having expatiated with glowing rhetoric on the "bloody reign" of the ancient tyrants, a little girl, who had listened with deep interest, innocently asked, "Please Mr. Swilkins, what kind of umbrellas did the people use, to keep that bloody rain off'm themselves?"

CHILDREN are singularly inquisitive. For instance: "It is said that a man should cleave to his wife. What does cleave mean, pa?" "It means to unite together, to stick to." Does John unite wood, or stick it together, when he cleaves it?" "Hem! Well, don't ask so many foolish questions, child."

"DEAR me!" exclaimed Stiggins, "that new surgeon gave Squantum's boy a new lip from the child's own cheek! What a painful operation it must have been!" "I've had a pair of lips taken from my cheek, more than once," replied Mrs Stiggins, "and it wasn't a painful operation at all." Stiggins' eyes flashed, and his cheeks flushed, but he controlled the demon of jealousy which raged in his bosom.

WHAT A MUDDLE!

General Halpine—otherwise the boy Miles O'Reilly—who edits the New York Citizen, makes no bones about the muddle the Democratic party are in concerning a candidate. Here is the picture he draws—rather the plain statement of the situation the party are in:

"If they nominate Chief Justice Chase, it is pretty generally conceded by men of both parties that their success is certain. If they nominate Gen. Hancock, their success is very fairly probable; but if they nominate outside of these, or nominate on a 'copperhead' platform, the next national election may be regarded in advance as decided in favor of Grant and Colfax. In such a struggle as this latter contingency contemplates, we respectfully desire to be counted out. We are for Chase if we can get him; for Hancock, if he can be nominated; for Senator Hendricks, with a sort of feeble hope that he may possibly carry his own State for our ticket. But outside of these, and with any candidate obviously put up to be knocked down, or merely to carry the State of New York so that Tammany Hall may have a Governor of her own choosing—the Citizen is not to be reckoned on, and is clearly of the opinion that twelve years of continuous defeat are not for the 'good of the party.'"
